AUSTRIAN INVADERS OF POLAND DRIVEN BACK INTO GALICIA

Russians Win Decisive Victory at Tomaszow, on Their Own Soil, and Two Austrian Generals Are Among Dead-Beaten Army Retires to Hills.

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

LONDON, Sept. 5.-The Austrian invasion of Russian Poland has been decisively repulsed, according to dispatches from Petrograd (St. Petersburg), which have reached the Exchange Telegraph Co., via Rome. The dispatches state that, in a battle near Tomaszow, Pdland, the Russians completely routed the Austrians, and that two Generals are among the Austrian dead.

Tomaszow is 30 miles southeast of Lodz, and is about halfway between the Austrian border and Warsaw, the capital of Poland. The plan of the Austrians was to effect a junction with the German army corps from East Prussia, and then to march on Warsaw. The indications are that this plan has been thwarted, and that the Austrians are being driven back into Galicia (Austrian Poland) where another Austrian army has already sustained crushing defeats, causing the loss of Lemberg. The Petrograd War Office now estimates that the Russian victories in Galicia and the Servian victory at Jadar have so crippled the forces of the dual monarchy that only 10 Russian army corps are needed to keep Austria in This released 20 corps for the in-

This dispatch was sent before the news of the Austrian defeat at Tomaszow.

Germans Striving to Isolate Paris North and East, Says Expert ublished in St. Louis Exclusively in the St. Louis Post-Dispatch by Special Arrangement With the Sun.

HILE any effort to estimate the full purpose of the new German "turning movement," reported rom Paris and London alike this mornng, must be wholly a matter of specu ation, there are still certain facts which makes it possible at least to hazard ruess. To any student of the Civil War campaigns, there is an inevitable paral-

that from Mons-Charlero' to the very gates of Paris, the German advance had ollowed the course and the strategy of Grant from the Wilderness to Cold Har or. In each case, a superior army advancing upon the enemy's capital had endeavored at once by frontal and flank attack to crush the opposing army and to cut it off from the capital. Monsharleroi, Landrecies-Avesnes, St. Quen tin-Guise-these battles are wholly anal gous to the Wilderness, Spottsylvania and South Anna, while the other recen battle, about which we know nothing may probably be compared to Cold Har-

Policy of Isolation.

Having failed at Cold Harbor, which was so near to Richmond that the noke and sound of battle drifted over the Confederacy's capital, what wa Grant's next move? A wide swing east and south to put himself in the rear of the Confederate capital, to take Petersburg if possible, and to get possession of nd. In a word, his strategy was simply to isolate the city of Richmond, and he left on the north only a minor force, taking the bulk of his army south. Now a glance at the map shows that La Ferte-Sous-Jouarre, the point at which the German movement seems to Naval Training Quarters be directed, is south and east of the first laken over crystal Palace for naval training purposes, its use to begin in a crossing that river, they will automaterially be according to the main contraction.

By the Military Expert of the New roads leading east and northeast and connecting the armies of the connecting the armies of the center and right, that is, of the Meuse and Lorraine, with Paris. Still further pressed, such a movement will strike the Seine at Fontainebleau and give the Germans control of prac-tically all the railways and roads going east. Paris will then be isolated from the east and north.

Two Parallels Drawn. Precisely the same situation existed when Grant, after long months of slege work before Petersburg, finally broke the Confederate line at Five Forks. Lee was then forced to retreat hastily to escape being cut off completely from the south. His retreat was begun too late. and his army was captured before it could get west of the enveloping lines of Grant and Sheridan, moving west along the Appomattex. In the Franco-Prussian War the same operation shut Bazaine with his great army up in Metz and insured its ultimate surrender cause of threatened starvation.

The present "turning movement," if is of the character indicated, and is suc with the choice of being shut up in Par and going south, necessarily to the Loire, the next line of defense, and the sition of the French armies in 1871. Paris will then be wholly invested, and can be besieged.

One more consequence of the prese nove would be to isolate the army abo If, at the same time, the German ad vance toward Rheims and Verdu should be pushed, it might form anothe turning move to drive the army of the Meuse south and east of Rheims and upon the army of Lorraine, now fighting about Nancy. Such a move would wholly separate the two masses of French forces in the field.

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

LONDON, Sept. 5, 3:45 p. m.—Russia, Great Britain and France today signed an agreement that none of the three would make peace without the consent of all three nations.

Following is the text of the protocol.

The undersigned, duly authorized thereto by their respective Governments, hereby declare as follows:

The British, French and Russian Governments mutually engage not to conclude peace separately during the present war. The three Governments agree that when the terms of peace come to be discussed no one of the allies will demand conditions of peace without the previous agreement of each of the other allies.

In faith whereof the undersigned have signed this declaration and have affixed thereto their seals.

while the huge mobile army of the allies is outside the city, would not appear to be a logical part of the swift German campaign.

News of the withdrawal of German troops toward the Prussian frontier is not generally credited here because, with their supreme effort in the West as a primary object, the Germans are hardly likely to weaken their forces.

News from Northern Belgium indicates that the Belgian troops are recovering from the gruelling punishment inflicted upon them by the German invaders and are resuming their activ-

In some quarters the belief prevailed that the German plans of campaign may be radically changed by the Austrian disasters, but in spite of this move observers are of the opinion that Germany must continue her remorseless advance in the West without considering the misfortune of her ally. Fall of Paris Not Fatal.

If Paris falls the effect already has been more or less discounted in London, as the War Office has managed to convey the impression that the capture of the French capital means only the prolongation

This phase of the situation brought home to the British public has unquestionably stimulated recruiting.

There is no indication that the allies in the west intend to assume the aggressive. On the other hand, the indications are that if the Germans capture Paris every effort will be made to render it a barren triumph by leading the Germans from position to position n a series of rear-guard actions until the invaders are exhausted.

The first official communication from the new capital of France at Bordeaux indicates the failure of a German flanking movement, evidently intended to cut the left wing of the allies.

A dispatch to the Daily News from Copenhagen dated Friday says: "Berlin dispatches indicate that the Germans are throw ing troops back eastward to meet Russia's advance.

"The president of the German military staff controlling the railways, states that the principal lines will close for the present so that on the German section the main communication between Scandinavian countries and the Continent via Gierdser and Warnemunde is again shut down. All the rolling stock, it is belitted, is now wanted for moving a large number of troops to the eastward.

"Further indications are that the points the troops are being withdrawn from are Alsace and Lorraine.

"All the Germans railroads are now closed to civil traffic and land communication from Berlin and Copenhagen is stopped."

It may be assumed that the allies wi risk one more battle before they retire to leave Paris to its fate. Yet they have no such necessity to stay ab Paris as Lee had to stay about Ri mond. Indeed, the departure of Government officials south to Bordes was a plain evidence that military co derations were not to be sacrificed

To sum up briefly, so far as it is poss ble to see now, the German attempt to get between Paris and the allied army and roll it up has failed, after two weeks of terrific fighting. The allies have succeeded in getting back to Paris. Now the Germans are beginning a new operation to isolate Paris from the north and east of France and if possible to drive the whole allied force back into Paris and shut it up there. In this, they seem exactly to be pursuing the plans Grant employed in his Virginia ampaign of 1864-65. Main Purpose Not Fulfilled. But so absorbing has been the struggle about Paris that something of a real perspective has been lost. The main purpose of the Germans was to crush her and destroy her military force before Russia should become so dangerous on the east as

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

The World Growing Better. To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch

Just a few words regarding the letter of "Disgusted." The "wars and rumors of wars" cer-tainly do not indicate the end of the world. It is true that men have been slaughtering one anthe world is round, or that the sun is many times larger than it appears to the eye, and that is that the world has been growing steadily throughout the ages. It is better today than ever before. Better in spite of the fact that the greatest of all wars is now being fought; better in spite of all the misery and suffering in the world today. When mankind has solved all the problems of this world; when we are perfect we ay then expect to see the end of the world, for It will then have served its purpose. It is need-less to add, however, that this will not happen

We have not proved our unfitness for life in this world, but we are learning by experience to live in it. When we have learned ou on we will be ready for another world. Nare's work is slow but sure. Let us remember ose lines of a poet whose philosophy is as great greater than his poetry:

Too Much Powder.

Editor of the Post-Dispatch. I have been reading an article in your paper by Marguerite Mooers Marshall about young women, and the use of cosmetics which I think will do a great deal to bring girls of St. Louis to their senses. I mean those that use enoughered paint to cover a large barn and shough powder to blow up the German navy, that is if it was the right kind. The quantity is there even if the quality is not.

Help for Red Cross Work.

It seems to me that instead of holding our usual Velled Prophet parade and ball the best advertising and the most humane thing St. Louis could do, would be to donate this money to the novelty and attraction and as far as calling out-side people to town at this season of the year, if there was money to be spent the crowds would come without this antique attraction. N. P. N.

Religious Freedom in Germany. To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

Rev. Urban Stanowski is wrong when he says "German oppression of Poles is worse than the Car's." There is no such thing as oppression of anybody politically, religiously or otherwise in the whole of Germany. The idea of Germany the whole of Germany. The idea of Germany-ing to Lutheranize the Poles! It is prepos-rous. Religious freedom existed in Prussia ice her beginning, and when they were burn-r witches in other parts of the world, the eat Frederick allowed his people to believe what they wanted and go to heaven in their in fashion. The Reverend's map of the old agdom of Poland is also grossly misleading. ingdom of Poland is also grossly misleading as desires to give the impression that East and ast Prussia were part of it. Now, as a matter fact, only the province of Possn—about the se of two Missouri counties, and about one wentieth of the entire Polish kingdom, fell to a share of Prussia, when the partition took age in 1772—and not in 1815 as erroneously fed by the Reverend Pather. When Prussia ok it over it was little less than a wilderness of the province of the province

PAYING AS WE GO.

The President's speech to Congress yesterday must be accepted as proof that in his opinion the war is not soon to be ended. He has sources of information that are not accessible to the press-Within the censorships there is knowledge which mistakenly, as we believe, is withheld.

If there were reason to hope that the war would oon end, there could be no justification for new taxes upon the American people. Every argument which is advanced against a bond issue would fall of its own weight. It is because a state of war involving most of the world in its savagery is regarded at Washington as likely to be of long duration that the President recommends additional levies. Because our commerce is interrupted, customs fail. The deficiency must be supplied by direct taxation. We are thus to be taxed again and again, not for wars of our own and not for any failure of our fiscal arrangements, but to meet a situation which we did not contrive and to presented no especially difficult problem. carry burdens imposed upon us by the high enterprises of war lords in partnership with gun-

It is a grievous thing to lay war taxes upon a people at peace, but we applaud the courage of strategy. the President in meeting the issue squarely. the way the Austrian armies are conducting the war on the Servian and Austrian frontiers. Notwithstanding the Austrian armies in those

It seems to us that when an army has been

A TALE OF IMPERILED SAILORS.

Providential interpositions always used to come from above in the old miracle plays. But we have got a long way from both the scenic effects and the theology of the miracle play period. Read the tale of certain imperiled sailors from a British warship who had been abandoned in a whaleboat in the midst of enemies and the dangers of the deep in the North Sea:

Suddenly a swirl alongside, And up, if you marine E-4, opens its conning tower, takes brings them home, 250 miles.

Not alone the mysterious ingenuity of highly suspicious direction from which it came deep mistrust on the benignity in character and motive of the agency of deliverance.

FAIRGROUND SWIMMING POOL.

The closing of the Fairground swimming pool weeks before the end of the season is due, it appears, to an error in municipal bookkeeping. The appropriation of $15,275 is exhausted, but the pool could have been kept open for several weeks longer if the revenue derived from the rental of bathing suits and towels and sale of soap had been kept for expenses instead of turned into the city treasury.

This pool has been a source of wholesome en owment to many thousands of persons, as is proved by the fact that the number of "swims" since it opened last spring was over 253,000. And it has doubtless been the means of saving lives to unprotected waters. Next season, finances should be so arranged as to permit the pool to keep open until the cool weather.

HELP FOR ADULT BLIND

According to Joseph A. Meyer, first vice-pre dent of the United Workers for the Blind of Mis souri, official figures show that 75 per cent of the blind lose their sight after maturity, many of them late in life.

The State, through its School for the Blind, pro vides for the education of blind children, up to tutional government is counted upon to preven the age of 20 years. The School for the Blind is him from carrying his opposition to Carranza an admirable institution. It has an enrollment of 108 students, and the report of the superintendent says that a small group of men who are stand that such action will bring down upon him the school is the only institution in the State to Mexican Government, but the active displeasure give such training to blind persons.

The public care and education of blind children has been based upon the supposition that blind-ness was chiefly a misfortune suffered at birth or early in life. But when it is understood that a majority of those stricken with blindness are already of adult age, the advisability of providing for the training of adult blind persons is obvious Adults of any age can enter the St. Louis night The same privilege should be granted adult blind persons with regard to the School fo the Blind. Let every blind person be given the opportunity to become self-supporting.

DARING MOVE ON THE CHESSBOARD.

One of the dramatic surprises of the war-from the first we have been prepared in a measure for surprises—is that story about the thunderhold forged in the frozen North in aid of sorely pressed France. At Archangel, away up near the Arctic Circle, we are told, 80,000 Russians were loaded on transports and brought through the White Ses and past the North Cape to a Scottish port, being thence carried by rail and boat to Ostend.

So good a story ought to be true. And really there is nothing of inherent improbability in it Archangel was at one time Russia's only seaport and is now a large shipping center. It is connected by a railroad nearly 600 miles long with the interior lines of the country, so the concentration of this or even a larger force at Archangel

CARRANZA'S ELIGIBILITY RECOGNIZED Day by day the Washington Government comes nto a fuller accord with the de facto Governmen

On Aug. 31 the New York World published, in ts Washington dispatches, the following:

Carranza aspires to be President, but under the Mexican Constitution he cannot succeed himself. He maintains that he is not provisional President, but merely the military dictator Villa insists that Carranza is provisional President, and that he will not consent to his (Carranza's) seeking the office in the general elections. Villa's position is the same as that of the United States.

Mr. Fuller (the President's personal envoy in Mexico), is to tell Carranza that the position Villa takes is patriotic and logical, and that he must conform his views and policies to it. Neither the troops nor the warships will be withdrawn until peace has been reg defeated yesterday, scemed The defeat yesterday at the hands of define the National League the Corsairs was the seventh straight flag race more sharply, leaving reverse for the local club, which now is two contenders, Boston and New York, battling against a slump that may land two contenders, Boston and New York, as the probable final contestants for first place.

The two teams are separated by but half a game, with every chance of continuing a ding-dong finish to the end. The success of Marty O'Toole, pitching for the Giants yesterday, was a life-saver for McGraw. It gives him a fifth pitcher on whom to rely for the relief of his big three, Matty, Marquard and Teseau. All three have been pitching good ball, although Marquard has been unfortunate. Matty, too, requires about five days for his arm to recover from a hard game.

Thus O'Toole, if he can pitch good ball in about five games, and win three of them, will supply the needed rest for the big guns, without causing the Giants to slip back.

The Giants are now slight favorites to win over the Braves in the betting. Accounts of yesterday's games show that beth sontending clubs had scares shot into them. Here are the stories of the run-getting, epitomized:

Hear the Blow-Off, Boys?

In the light of what has been happening to our dearly beloved Browns and our equally highly cherished Cardinals during the past fornight (early English for two weeks) we have been prone to speculate on what will happen when these two teams meet in the fall for the city championship. They can't both lose.

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 5.—Sam Crawford, the mighty slugger of the Tigers, alone was responsible for the defeat of the Browns in the first of the three-game series between Detroit and St. Louis, Friday afternoon. The player leading the League in extra base drives drove in three runs and socred the other, the Browns being beaten by a 4 to 1 count.

In the first inning, with Cobb on third as the result of a base on balls, a theft of second and a wild throw. Sam singled, scoring Ty. In the fourth he tripled and crossed the plate on Veach's sacrifice lift, and ir the fifth he singled with the bases filled, putting Coveleskie and Vitt across.

The cold air seemed agreeable to Harry Coveleskie, who had considerable the better of the argument with Earl Hamilton, the star of the Rickey curving staff. Hamilton, usually the hardest kind of a puzzle for Detroit, was hit hard and often, and was replaced in the seventh inning by Baichley, the little right-hander.

No scoring was made on the youngster in the eighth, the only inning in which the Tigers faced him.

The Browns scored on Coveleskie in the sixth, when Austin walked, reached third on Lavan's hit, and tailled on an infield out.

Fielder Jones must get the heartache every time he takes his seat in the cave in advance of each afternoon's lvory and cheese exhibition. If there was any major league baseball at Federal League Park, Friday, it was confined to the pitching of Chief Johnson and one or two incidentais. It had nothing whatever to do with the St. Louis playing. The club is a patch work that even Jones cannot hope to do anything with. CHICAGO, Sept. 5.—Although higher prices than any before since hostilities began were scored today in the wheat market here, the advance met with determined opposition. There was free selling by several of the largest houses on 'Change, and in addition considerable profit-taking was indulged in by miscellaneous holders. Dispatches from Liverpool indicated that British dealers were reluctant to follow any further radical upturn at present. After opening %c off to 1½c higher, the market here steadled at ½c to ½c above last night. Meanwhile May wheat had touched $1.32 as compared with $1.31½, esterday's topmost figure.

Realizing sales weakened corn. On setbacks, however, commission houses were fair buyers. The start, which was unchanged to %c off, was followed by a material sag all around and then by a decided raily.

Oats continued to show unusual activity. The market, though, was more two-sided than has been the rule of late and prices did not show any wide change in either direction.

Shorts covering strengthened provisions. Lower quotations for hogs were virtually ignored.

International Steam Pump Company To the Holders of the First Lien Twenty-Year Five Per Cent

Sinking Fund Gold Bonds, due September 1, 1929:

Receivers having been appointed for the International Steam Pump Company, the undersigned have, at the request of the holders of a large amount of the bonds, constituted themselves a Bondholders Protective Committee. In the judgment of the Committee the interests of the bondholders require prompt and concerted action. Bondholders are therefore requested immediately to deposit their bonds in negotiable form (with the September 1, 1914, and all subsequent coupons attached) with GUAR-ANTY TRUST COMPANY OF NEW YORK, the Depositary of the Committee, at its office in New York or its office in London, or with one of the following agents of the Depositary: St. Louis Union Trust Company, of St. Louis, Mo., Commonwealth Trust Company, of Boston, Mass., or Associate Cassa of Amsterdam, Holland. The Depositary or its agents will issue transferable certificates of deposit under an Agreement of Deposit, copies of which will be furnished upon application to the Depositary or to any of its said agents or to the Secretary of the Committee. The Committee hopes to be in a position at an early day to formulate and announce a plan of reorganization. In case depositing bondholders should be dissatisfied with such plan of reorganization, they will be afforded an opportunity of withdrawing their bonds pursuant to the terms of the Agreement of Deposit.

"Gorm," a human hog; to take more than one's share.
"Huszlecoo," an intimate talk, a confidential colloquy.
"Esosh," vals talk; a project that is born dead.

There so the distance selections. Each is wittily as lained in a page by itself. For example:

"A huszlecoo is an animated conversation between two women over the back fence, It is a business talk between two partners and their credit man behind the locked doors of the office; it is the directors' meeting which results in Jones being appointed.

"Ward politicians hold huszlecoos in the back rooms of saloons and make up their 'slates.' Mother and daughter hold a huszlecoo in NelHe's pink cretonne bedroom over 'that young man' who has become so attentive. After the baseball captain and his manager have a husslecoo, Five-Base Murphy is put in the box.

"But if you've never heard two girls discussing a man, or sat in the front parlor with Moony Mamie, the Merry Man-eater, till 2 a. m-then I pity you; you'll never know what a good, hot hus-lecoo means. (See Vorlander.)

THE BURDEN OF PERSLEMIND. A CCORDING to conservative esti-timates there are hetween 200,000 and 400,000 feeble-minded persons in the United States. Among these are included idiots, imbeciles and morons. It is, therefore, quite a problem what to do with the feeble-minded. They can-

While attempts to look into the prob lem have been made in many parts of the country, the training school at Vine-land, N. J., stands out as the leader in this work In connection with the school there is a research department where very serious work is done. This department is under the guidance of Dr. Henry Herbert Goddard. His work in Vineland has attracted international at-tention. His writings on the subject are authoritative. His "Kalikak Family," for instance, is now used as a text book on the subject of mental deficiency.

It is clear from going through these cases that feeble-minded-through these cases that feeble-mindedness is hereditary. If we couple with this the fact that investigations clearly demonstrate that feeble-minded persons are often more prolific than normallyminded persons, we surely come to see the problem before us.

Aside from the problem itself, the study of these cases as presented in the book, through charts, etc., is very interesting. These studies in the light of the Mendelian law of heredity demonstrates that society must do something to check the increase of the mentally denoient. It is estimated, from experiments, that at least 50 per cent of the immoral and criminal classes are feebleminded. Institutions for delinquent chlidren report between 60 and 80 per cent of feable-minded. We need not be surprised at this since the feeble-minded are usually not ever 16 years old mentally. Yet we place responsibilities upon them as if they were grown persens, simply because physically they are grown.

It was during the course of a trial in Philadelphia that the cross examining attorney put the following question to a witness:

"Was it the defendant's habit to talk to himself when alone?"

The witness pondered for a moment over this, and then cautiously replied:

"Just at this time, I don't remember ever being with him when he was alone."
